About Me:

I have a passion for Operational Leadership. I love figuring out the right quantitative (numbers) and qualitative (people) mix that helps any business go from ordinary to extraordinary. Then I found EOS, which has become the glue bringing my personal and professional life together. It helped me realize the need to be intentional in the choices I make and live a more purpose driven life. I'm a firm believer that the only constant in life is change, and my favorite quote is, "Change the way you look at things, and the things you look at change," by Wayne Dyer. I've always wanted to change the world, and now I use my experience and EOS to help change the world around me through helping business owners find happiness and success in their personal and professional lives.
